

Williams' Tax Deal Ridiculed By GOP Leader

HANCOCK, Mich. — (AP)—Republican Leader Owen J. Cleary took another swipe at Gov. Williams last night and charged his corporation profits tax proposal was "conceived in intellectual dishonesty."

The GOP state central committee chairman addressed a party rally here.

The average citizen, Cleary declared, is "tax-ridden almost to the point of desperation now, and resents being hoodwinked by a governor who tells him there is such a thing as a tax he doesn't pay."

Pursuing a familiar theme with respect to the corporation tax, Cleary said it apparently was meant as groundwork for "Truman-Williams New Deal Socialism" in Michigan.

In addition, he charged the governor with using the current special legislative session to further his own ends.

"The governor says he wants to protect the consumer against new taxes through a levy on corporations," the Republican official asserted.

"In doing so, he underestimated the intelligence of the Michigan voter who knows that corporate institutions are to be found in every town and hamlet in the state."

"The voter is well aware that his local dairy, bakery and shoe store are more than likely to be corporations, that taxes are a part of doing business and that retail prices are based on cost plus markup. So it is not difficult to realize that a corporation tax may mean a penny more for a quart of milk, a cent or two more for bread and an additional amount necessary for shoes and other necessities."

Capital Of U. S. 150 Years Old

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's capital launches a seven-month-long birthday party today, commemorating the establishment of the federal government here 150 years ago.

Officials of the national capital sequentennial commission described the celebration in advance as "the most spectacular patriotic pageant in the history of the nation since the inauguration of George Washington."

On top for the opening day "salute to freedom" were roaring cannon, circling planes, military bands, top government officials and stars of opera, stage, screen and radio.

Vice President Barkley was to make the day's principal address from a flag-draped 72-foot platform set up in front of the capitol steps.

Opera and concert star Gladys Swarthout clad in a $2,000 silver gown made especially for the occasion, was scheduled to appear as the Goddess of Freedom to sing "Bless This Land."

A long program of other events also was in store, to be climaxed by a fireworks display and band concert tonight on the Washington monument grounds.

Korean Army Deals Blow To Guerrillas

SEOUL — (AP) — The Korean army announced today it had wiped out all but about 150 of the 700 or more guerrillas who moved into south Korea last month from the Communist north.

American observers declared the Korean army in two weeks of intensive campaigning had dealt the guerrillas a terrific blow.

They said that besides the surviving band of 150 there were scattered guerrillas in the south but their numbers were inconsequential.

France Rejects New Ruhr Plan

BONN, Germany—(AP)—France has turned down a joint American-British plan which would give the Germans final say in future ownership of the Ruhr's huge iron and steel industries once occupation is ended.

The French veto automatically suspended for 30 days passage of a new Ruhr control law, which is designed to break up the vast state-owned cartels and the giant Krupp empire, which has supported German militarization for the past 100 years.

French High Commissioner Andre Francois-Poncet yesterday objected to a section of the law's preamble which would give the Germans the right to decide the form of future ownership of the rich industries. He turned the issue over to his government.

American High Commissioner John McCloy and British High Commissioner Sir Brian Robertson, however, voted to retain their original promise to the Germans.

The 30-day suspension will continue indefinitely unless Britain and the U. S. at high level conferences—possibly at the meeting of the big three foreign ministers in London next month—decide to over-ride the French objection and put the law through.

Newberry Last Stop Of Lecture Series For Ex-Red Budenz

NEWBERRY, Mich.—(AP)—After a limited tour of Michigan, former Communist Louis F. Budenz was on his way back to New York today.

Budenz, a prospective witness in Washington investigations into charges against the U. S. state department, spoke here before an audience of 600 persons last night.

Newberry was his last stop in a brief series of lectures.

In his talk here Budenz repeated that the Communist party is a Fifth Column in the United States trying to confuse and mislead Americans.

He charged that the Communist intent was to destroy military, civil and judicial authority. It is up to Americans, he said, to learn the nature of Soviet Communism and educate against it.

Prague Propaganda Denounced By U. S.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has struck back sharply at Czechoslovakia's charges that the official U. S. information service in Prague has been used for spying.

Denouncing the charges as "demonstrably false" the state department yesterday issued a statement accusing the Communist-controlled nation of launching a "deliberately planned propaganda attack."

The department said its information service in Prague carries on "activities departing in no way from those which nations are accustomed to regard as normal and legitimate functions in diplomatic relations and in the maintenance of friendly contact between countries throughout the world."

Kaiser-Frazer 1949 Loss Set At 30 Million

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT—(AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. lost $30,329,351 last year.

This was disclosed in the automotive corporation's annual financial statement, issued today. It compares with a net profit of $10,362,098 after all taxes, in 1948.

Kaiser-Frazer's experience ran contrary to that of the industry in general in 1949.

Earnings were at a new high with a record production of 6,238,000 cars and trucks. Big General Motors earned $656,434,232. Chrysler $132,170,096.

But K-F is optimistic about the future. It has three new models in production or soon to reach the assembly lines, and Edgar F. Kaiser, president, believes most of the losses "are behind us."

The financial statement listed last year's total sales at $104,474,189. In 1948 they totaled $341,552,441. Current assets were reported at $34,852,159 and current liabilities at $11,559,888. Counting property, land and equipment, total assets amount to $90,114,229.

Total long term obligations come to $42,765,604.

But K-F said the major cause for its loss in 1949 was inadequate financing. Long-term financing from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. has improved its position for 1950, however, the company said.

Party Crasher Shoots Man In Detroit Hotel

DETROIT—(AP)—A young policeman used his gun to crash a hotel party last night and wounded one of the merry-makers.

Then 30-year-old Gerald N. Lennox, a Detroit police patrolman for five years, took over a hotel (Book Cadillac) elevator and ran it up and down until three fellow officers grabbed him and placed him under arrest.

Lennox arrived at the Michigan master plumbers party, held in an eighth floor suite, after an evening of drinking.

Plumbers there told police he promptly picked an argument with Frank Mc Ilhargy, 44, jostled him into an elevator and fired at him. Mc Ilhargy, a former University of Detroit athlete, was treated at Receiving hospital for a wound in the left hip and reported in good condition.

Lennox also was hospitalized with facial bruises he suffered in a battle with Mc Ilhargy.

The patrolman has been suspended twice for drunkenness.

Actor Henry Fonda Goes On With Show After Wife's Suicide

BEACON, N. Y. — (AP)—Henry Fonda went back to Broadway last night after his wife's hastily-arranged funeral and played "Mr. Roberts" to an audience that whispered the first news of her suicide from seat to seat.

Thirteen hours before—shortly after dawn yesterday—the actor's beautiful society wife had cut her throat from ear to ear with a razor blade.

She was in a private sanitarium here, 40 miles north of New York City, and was believed to be recovering from a nervous breakdown that followed her consent to a divorce. She was 42.

Her death note ended: "I am sorry, but this is the best way out."

Union Wants Extra Man On Diesel Crews

Walkout May Come At Any Time

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The possibility of a nationwide rail strike loomed today following a union announcement that it has made no progress in its efforts to get an extra man on Diesel locomotives.

David B. Robertson of Chicago, president of the Independent Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, said yesterday a strike may be called at any time. A union committee will meet in Chicago next week to discuss the situation.

In a statement released here, Robertson reported failure of negotiations over the union's demand for another Diesel crewman. Similar talks have been held in Chicago between the railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"As a result of the position taken by the railroads," Robertson said, "the possibility of a strike as a final step in this long standing dispute now will be considered by our committee."

The 110,000 members of the union authorized a strike in a referendum several months ago.

A presidential fact finding board decided in 1948 that no extra man was needed on Diesel locomotives. But the union insisted that an additional fireman would lessen "hazards to both the traveling public and employees."

In another labor development, attorneys for John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers asked the U. S. circuit court of appeals yesterday to dismiss contempt of court charges which the government brought against the union during last winter's coal strike.

The department of justice filed the charge against the UMW after the miners had refused to obey a back-to-work order issued by District Judge Richmond B. Keach.

Later, Keach held that the government had not proved the union responsible for the miners' action. He found the UMW innocent of contempt.

The government is pressing the appeal because the precedent may be important in future strikes.

Broken Leg Peanuts, Comedian Olsen, 58, Told By Mother, 87

OCEANSIDE, Calif.—(AP)—The Olsen half of the comic team of Olsen and Johnson was on the mend today, told by his aged mother that "a broken leg is peanuts."

Doctors yesterday pinned a cast to the broken (above the knee) right leg which John Sigvard Olsen, 58, received in an automobile accident Thursday. They said this should help him get around again within ten days.

Olsen's 87-year-old mother, Mrs. Catherine Olsen, telegraphed him from her Fort Wayne, Ind., home: "When I was 75 I broke three ribs and had a brain concussion, 53 stitches and a shoulder out of place. A broken leg is peanuts."

The team's new show, "Tsk, Tsk, Tsk, Parce," will open in San Diego Monday with Marty May as a stand-in for Olsen.

Man Burns To Death In Kalamazoo Suburb

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — (AP) — A 69-year-old man burned to death at his modest suburban home early today after he returned from a night club. He was Victor Hill, a foundry worker here.

His one-story frame home in suburban recreation park was destroyed.

Firemen said the blaze started either from an overheated furnace or from a cigarette that set fire to a bed.

Firemen tried to force open the backdoor but the victim, apparently attempting to escape, had fallen against the door, jamming it shut.

Benton Harbor Club Raided; 32 Arrested

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Thirty-two persons were booked on various gambling charges today after state police raided the 101 Club, a popular Negro entertainment spot just outside the city limits.

The raid took place just before midnight. Those arrested were all Negroes. Most were charged with frequenting a gambling establishment.

MYSTERY MAN ON TRIAL — John Maragon, above, Greek immigrant, mystery man and former White House frequenter, goes on trial Monday in Washington on four charges of lying to a Senate committee about his employment and income. Maragon was a key figure in last year's inquiry into capital "five per centers," or influence salesmen.

Barkley Stars In Detroit Fete

DETROIT—(AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley broke bread with Michigan Democrats at the $25-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson day dinner last night.

He had left his bride at home—the trip might have been "too tiring"—but it was a high night for the party nonetheless.

Barkley gave the principal address to a responsive audience at the Masonic Temple, stoutly defending the administration against charges it is lax about Communists.

The party realized something like $35,000 in receipts. This will be divided between the national and state committees.

In customary good humor, Barkley was the star of the show, as intended. From the outset the 72-year-old Kentuckian turned on his charm.

Barkley insisted that President Truman and others in the administration at Washington were doing their best to get rid of any disloyal persons.

The "veep" took sharp exception to anyone who expressed doubt of that.

"Neither I nor the president nor his cabinet," he said, "want to see a single subversive on the payroll. "But honest men and women who have given their lives in the service of their country should not be besmirched and smeared to create a political issue."

Cigaret Bet Blamed For $8,000,000 Fire At Japanese Resort

TOKYO—(AP)—Police today said a bet on whether a lighted cigarette could ignite gasoline led to the $8,000,000 fire that razed a major part of the resort of Atami Thursday night.

This is the way the investigators said the fire began:

A workman was filling a gasoline container in a waterfront building. A second workman bet that a cigarette dropped into the gasoline wouldn't start a fire.

The first workman took the bet and a lighted cigarette was dropped into the container with the following results:

More than 200 persons injured, 19 critically; 1,500 houses destroyed with 6,000 homeless, and most of the business district of the city of 35,000 wiped out.

The first workman is in a hospital for treatment of burns and the second is in jail charged with responsibility for the fire.

Bootleg Boss Nabbed In Raid At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Charles Carrollo, one-time minor north-side political boss, and three other men seized with him yesterday in a liquor raid, expected to be formally charged by the U. S. government today.

E. N. Ahlfeldt, leader of the raid and head of the federal alcohol tax unit, said the foursome would be charged with operating a wholesale liquor business without federal licenses and without keeping records required by federal law.

The four spent last night in jail after absence from the City of U. S. Commissioner Charles H. Thompson prevented formal arraignment.

Liquor Worth $50,000

Twelve raiding agents found a thousand cases of liquor and confiscated three cars and a truck in their raid on two houses about a mile from the political club where Charles Binaggio and Charles Gargotta were found slain a week ago. The liquor was valued at about $50,000.

Carrollo and Tony Marcella were found in one of the houses. Also arrested were Sam Tortorice and Mike Arnone.

Agents said two of the men were unloading liquor from the truck, using a portable roller conveyor system to transfer it to the house basement.

They said the liquor was destined to be repacked into cartons at the house to facilitate its disposal by motor car either into local retail establishments or in dry Oklahoma.

Served at Alcatraz

Carrollo achieved prominence politically in the days of the Penitentiary here, but was sentenced to prison in 1939 for eight years and a day for income tax evasion, perjury and intent to defraud.

Binaggio stepped into his political position and Carrollo did not regain his place when he was released.

In 1943, while serving sentence in the U. S. prison at Leavenworth, Kas., Carrollo was indicted for conspiring to smuggle narcotics, weapons and other contraband into the prison. He was transferred to Alcatraz and the charges were never prosecuted.

Carrollo, an alien, was released from Alcatraz in 1946 and his release became final in 1947.

WASHINGTON — (AP)—A vacancy occurs on the Atomic Energy commission today, opening the way for President Truman to appoint a new member-chairman.

Lewis L. Strauss, a member since Congress created the commission three and a half years ago, is quitting to take a rest on his Virginia cattle farm. A former New York banker and businessman, he has been in government service nearly 10 years.

President Truman is reported to be still undecided on a new chairman for the important AEC, which is in charge of developing the hydrogen bomb, producing atom bombs, and experimenting on peaceful uses for atomic energy.

Some 30 persons have been mentioned as possibilities for the chairmanship since it was announced months ago that David E. Lilienthal got out Feb. 15. While the vacancy has been filled, the chairmanship still is open.

Summer T. Pike has been acting chairman.

At a final news conference yesterday, Strauss declined to go in to the questions of how far along we are with the hydrogen bomb project or whether he thinks we will succeed with it.

Some scientists have said a hydrogen bomb would be so powerful it might explode the atmosphere, erase life from the world, or blow a tremendous hole in the earth.

"My own feeling about it," Strauss said, "is that extreme

Secretary Lie Will Try To Talk Stalin Out Of UN Boycott

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — If he goes to Moscow on his save-the-U. N. campaign, Secretary-General Trygve Lie expects to spend about two days in steady conferences with the Kremlin leaders.

Lie hopes to see Prime Minister Joseph Stalin, Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov and Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky on the expected flying visit.

These plans were disclosed by informed sources here as Lie worked on details of what may be the most important trip he has undertaken since he became secretary-general of the U. N. in February, 1946, for a five-year term expiring early in 1951. He is eligible for re-election as secretary-general by the general assembly next fall.

In addition to trying to convert Russians once more to resuming normal relations in the U. N., Lie will carry his campaign along the way to the British and French top foreign officials.

He expects to call on Foreign Minister Robert Schuman while in Paris and is making a call at London to talk with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin or Bevin's top assistants if Bevin is not in London or is indisposed by chronic illness.

Lie sails on the Queen Mary next Saturday. He will take a large party with him to Paris but if he finally decides to go to Russia, it was said, he will take only his top Russian aide, Assistant Secretary General Konstantin E. Zinchenko, and maybe one of his private secretaries.

There still is a chance Lie might not go to Moscow but persons in authority here say that he is most likely to go there. If something comes up between now and mid-May, when he expects to fly from Paris to Moscow, that would change the situation and make such a trip useless or unnecessary, he will not go.

But no one here sees any change in the situation and they assume the U. N. deadlock will be just as strong when mid-May comes.

Lie still is pushing his plan for a special meeting of the security council attended by the foreign ministers or government heads of the 11 member countries.

This special meeting would not be held until after the question of Chinese representation has been settled so that all 11 members could be present. Russia is boycotting the U. N. with the vow not to return until the Nationalist Chinese are thrown out.

Lagging Spring On Way Again

(By The Associated Press)

Spring weather, halted by a delayed outpouring of Arctic air appears to be on the way for the winter-weary eastern half of the nation.

The early spring cold spell already has caused millions of dollars damage to southern fruit crops and disrupted the nation's sports program. But, federal weather bureau forecasters had a long range note of cheer. The unseasonably chilly snap is nearing an end.

The predicted end of the near wintry weather of sub-freezing temperatures, snow and sleet was made as the midwest and east reported record low readings for mid-April.

Snow fell in many eastern areas yesterday, with an eight-inch fall at North Adams, Mass. New York City's fall measured 1.6 inch and the suburban areas were blanketed with three inches. The 25.2 degree temperature was a record low for April 14 in the metropolis.

Many farm families in southwestern North Dakota were isolated by snow and ice and the Army and Air Force rushed additional weasels to the area. Conditions were termed "real desperate" and many farm families were without fuel or food. Livestock losses also were reported.

Tosses $2,100 Rent Into Incinerator; Angelo Grabs Ashes

PASSAIC, N. J. — (AP)—Apartment house superintendent Angelo Patner collected $2,100 in rentals yesterday and put the money and checks in a paper bag. His wife is away so he decided to clean the apartment.

He tossed a batch of refuse into the incinerator—and with it the bag of cash.

Patner rushed to the incinerator and with his bare hands made two grabs for the flaming funds.

He retrieved $470 worth of unburned bills, $179 singed, $64 in bills and $492 in checks badly burned and a heap of ashes representing $900 in lost cash.

Patner turned the ashes over to the U. S. treasury to be evaluated for any possible refund.

Meanwhile, he's nursing three burned fingers.

Mother Joins Father In Kitchen Gas Death

NEW YORK—(AP)—Russell Ryan, 16, returned home last night to find his 41-year-old mother dead in the gas-filled kitchen of their apartment.

Police said the death of Mrs. Dorothy Ryan, a New York public school teacher, apparently was suicide.

A year ago the boy's father, Russell Ryan, was found dead of gas in the same kitchen.

Bridge Plunge Fatal To Judge's Daughter

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The daughter of a federal judge died here last night more than 12 hours after she plunged 85 feet from a bridge over Rock Creek park.

Judge Henry W. Edgerton of the U. S. court of appeals identified the woman as his daughter, Ann Edgerton, 28. He gave no explanation for her action.

Police said she had been under treatment by a psychiatrist.

Smelt Wait For Warmer Weather

Cold Delays Spring Spawning Run

The arrival of warmer weather is expected to signal the start of the 1950 smelt spawning run up Delta county rivers and streams, delayed this spring because of the continued cold weather.

Allen Tweedy, assistant district supervisor for the conservation department, today reported that no smelt have yet been taken in this area. Only a few inquiries concerning the run have been received at district conservation headquarters, indicating the general knowledge that the smelt will not run while ice still clogs the mouths of rivers and streams.

The take of smelt last winter by commercial fishermen from Green bay waters was slightly above the year previous, and when ice fishing ended the smelt were beginning to work their way into the shallows preparatory to the spawning run.

Thousands of fishermen gather along the banks of the rivers with dip nets when the run is under way. To dip smelt a fishing license must be obtained, conservation officers pointed out.

Smelt dipping is now ranked as a popular sport and the Escanaba smelt is served in some of the best New York and Chicago eating places.

The smelt run this year is expected to be larger in volume than last year, indicated by the heavier commercial catches this past winter.

Response Good To Easter Seal Program Here

James Degnan, chairman of the Easter seal committee, announced today that response to the appeal was very good in Escanaba. The campaign is now being concluded and money is being tallied.

Funds contributed are used for services for crippled children not provided for by state agencies. In the past the money has been used for braces, hospital expenses and equipment.

Delta Soil Conservation District Plan Approved

Organization of a Delta county soil conservation district will go forward following a hearing yesterday at city hall conducted by the Michigan Soil Conservation Commission and approval by the commission of the proposed Delta county district.

About 100 Delta county farmers attended the hearing at which Charles Figy, director of the state department of agriculture and chairman of the state soil conservation commission, presided.

The farmers presented a variety of problems they encounter in Delta county to support their petitions that a soil conservation district should be established.

To Elect Directors
After hearing the farmers, the state soil conservation commission members retired briefly and then returned to report that they approved the local request for a county soil conservation district. The state commission will next set a date for a referendum on the proposal and the election of soil conservation district directors.

Senate District Changes Urged

Menominee Herald-Leader Has Plan

MENOMINEE, Mich. — If the Republican policy committee of the Michigan state legislature is sincere about reapportioning the legislative representation "more nearly equal to population," the Menominee Herald-Leader offers the following revision of the three state senatorial districts in the U. P.:

30th District	47,144
Alger	10,167
Chippewa	27,807
Luice	7,423
Mackinac	9,438
Schoolcraft	9,524
Total	111,503

31st District	28,731
Dickinson	20,243
Iron	24,883
Delta	34,037
Total	107,894

32nd District	9,356
Gogebic	31,797
Houghton	47,631
Keweenaw	4,004
Ontonagon	11,359
Total	104,147

An Associated Press report Wednesday said the GOP policy committee was considering a plan to shift Menominee county from the 30th to the 31st district. Instead of equalizing the population, the proposal would throw it off worse than it is at present. Here is the present districting of the 15 U. P. counties for the three state senator seats:

30th District	10,167
Alger	27,807
Chippewa	34,037
Luice	7,423
Mackinac	9,438
Menominee	24,883
Schoolcraft	9,524

Mulcahey Is Heard By History Society

The Delta County Historical Society, meeting Thursday night in Gladstone high school library, heard Raymond G. Mulcahey, field representative of the Michigan Social Welfare department, discuss the American Indian of the Michigan area, his history, his present condition, and his future.

Treaties with the Indians by which the United States acquired the Michigan area were outlined by Mulcahey, who pointed out that there still exists to this day, under the terms of the Treaty of Ghent, Indians along the St. Marys river who may ignore the customs and immigration laws of Canada and the United States.

Today the trend is toward gradual assimilation of the Indian into a white civilization, Mulcahey said. There are approximately 5,000 Indians in Michigan today.

The meeting was arranged by A. T. Sohberg of Gladstone, Historical Society director, and President Frank Bender Jr. of Ford River presided.

Nails range from 15-inch boat spikes to fine needle-like pins only 3/16th of an inch in length.

Cancer Deaths Can Be Checked

Treatment Can Save Two Out Of Three

The doctors of Michigan have tools at hand to save two out of three people in the state who have cancer, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, said today.

X-ray, radium or surgery will cure most cancers if they are found early enough. This state's gravest need is to get Michigan people into their physicians' offices for periodic thorough physical examinations which will reveal early cancer or precancerous conditions in time.

The Michigan Department of Health is engaged in an effort to get cancer prevention and control programs under way in every county in the state. For areas which do not have programs already under way, the Department recommends the Hillsdale type of plan where every doctor's office becomes a cancer detection center.

The Hillsdale plan is preferred because most people would rather be examined by their own physicians; because the physician can combine the cancer detection examination with other examinations the patient requires; and because the plan makes a periodic thorough physical examination for cancer readily available to every person in the state.

Most cancers occur in accessible parts of the body and can be found readily by the physician in the periodic examination. However, there are signs which may mean cancer which call for immediate examination whenever they occur. Dr. Heustis said. They are: (1) Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips; (2) A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue; (3) Irregular bleeding or discharge from the nipple or any natural body opening; (4) Progressive change in color or size of a wart, mole or birthmark; (5) Persistent indigestion; (6) Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing; and (7) Any persistent change in normal bowel habits.

Some cancer can be prevented by early discovery and treatment of precancerous conditions and most early cancer can be cured. Thorough periodic examinations and early treatment can save thousands of Michigan lives which might be lost to cancer, Dr. Heustis said.

Ore Boat Scheduled To Buck Escanaba Ice Jam

With some steel mills reported critically short of certain grades of ore a renewed effort is expected to be made Tuesday to open Escanaba harbor to ore shipping.

The Str. International of the International Harvester company today was scheduled to enter Breck bay Tuesday in an effort to reach the C&NW ore docks at Escanaba. She will be assisted by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew.

If the attempt is successful there are nine other ore boats and one coal boat waiting to follow the leader into Escanaba harbor to open the 1950 shipping season on the upper Great Lakes.

Ice-choked channels leading to Lake Superior are expected to delay boats reaching ore docks at Marquette until May 1 or later, according to the Lake Carriers Association.

Lee McMillan, C&NW dock agent, announcing the scheduled attempt of the Str. International, said the boat will come here from South Chicago. The International

Fire Inspection Starts Monday

Business Places To Be Checked

Escanaba firemen will begin checking Escanaba business places Monday, for the annual fire inspection. Capt. Clarence Schrader announced today.

Each business place in the community will be inspected from basement to attic. Inspection sheets will be filled out for each place, and copies will be sent to the places of business. These reports will state conditions found and the recommendations of the fire captains.

The cooperation of all Escanaba business places has been requested.

Ice 30 to 36 inches

Yesterday McMillan went aboard the Sundew on its trip to the south edge of the Little Bay de Noc ice field. Seven miles south of Escanaba the ice is still 30 to 36 inches thick, indicating the possibility Str. International may encounter difficulty in trying to reach Escanaba.

Success or failure on the part of the International will determine whether additional boats will head for Escanaba from the lower lakes. The Lake Carriers Association ice committee is still recommending that boats not try to reach Escanaba.

A shortage of ore at International Harvester company smelters brought the decision to send the International north to Escanaba, despite the ice committee's recommendation.

Ore Stocks Dwindle

Nine other ore carriers are waiting to head north, and the Str. Otto Reiss is reported loaded with coal at a Lake Erie port and ready to sail for Escanaba when the signal is given.

Today the cutter Sundew took the crew of the Minneapolis Shoal lighthouse aboard at Escanaba to transport them to the light, located on a crib 12 miles south of Escanaba. Comprising the crew to put the light in operation are Anton Jensen, officer in charge, William O'Hearn and Peter Scott, assistants. Additional enlisted personnel will go out later.

Last year the first ore carrier arrived at Escanaba on March 23, and five days later the first boat docked at Marquette.

Ore stocks are dwindling rapidly but there is still no serious shortage, according to a Lake Carriers Association spokesman, even if shipping into Lake Superior is delayed for several weeks, it will be possible for boats to load at Escanaba and carry to Gary and South Chicago. From there the ore could be delivered by rail to other steel mills.

Key Workers' Enthusiasm Points To Progress For U. P. State Fair

THE enthusiasm expressed by more than 50 key workers for the 1950 Upper Peninsula State Fair at the dinner meeting sponsored by the fair board here Thursday night presages further progress in the U. P. State Fair development program and virtually guarantees the success of the 1950 exposition.

Nearly every county in the peninsula was represented at the meeting Thursday, either by a county agent, a 4-H club leader, a women's home extension worker or a fair board member. The general tone of the discussions was one of optimism and enthusiasm.

The U. P. State Fair has a particularly fitting slogan, "The Show Window of the Upper Peninsula." It has achieved that objective primarily because of the work accomplished by the key workers in every county of the peninsula, the 4-H club leaders, county agents and the women's home extension leaders.

These leaders recognize the fair as an effective medium to stimulate and develop their own programs in each of the 15 counties that comprise the Upper Peninsula. That accounts for their enthusiasm in the fair itself and for their work in making the fair successful.

Their interest is not concerned with the entertainment features at the grandstand nor the carnival aspects of the midway. Their interest lies in the heart of the fair, the exhibits that portray the accomplishments of Upper Peninsula people and stimulate progress in agriculture and in both urban and rural home life.

It is cooperation, the assistance of a lot of people from every nook and corner of the Upper Peninsula, that has achieved success for the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

Wisconsin Central Plans Service June 1

IF all goes well and particularly if Wisconsin Central Airlines doesn't change its mind, Escanaba will have regularly scheduled, federally approved commercial air service this spring, beginning June 1. Francis Higgins, WCA president, has reported that weather and radio facilities will arrive in Escanaba about mid-May and that service will begin June 1, provided plans for lengthening and widening the main runway here progress according to schedule. Local city officials have given assurance that the airport improvement program will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Escanaba has been pleading for direct airmail service for years and finally we are approaching the goal. Like other cities of the U. P., Escanaba supported National Airlines of Detroit in a CAB hearing last winter for an airmail contract and a franchise to serve this territory on a route to Detroit and a decision is still pending on that application.

Wisconsin Central, however, has held a franchise to serve Escanaba on a route to Chicago for several years and is finally getting around to exercise the franchise, a matter of four months before the franchise is up for renewal.

Direct airmail service is important to Escanaba. The city has spent thousands of dollars in airport development to that end. It now appears that despite many disappointments in the past, the goal is near.

Perhaps some day we can enjoy direct service from Detroit as well as from Chicago on routes federally approved.

Growing States Deserve Fair Representation

SINCE the first census in 1790, the 10-year nose counting has become such a broad statistical survey that its basic purpose gets obscured. That aim, of course, is to furnish data on which to base changes in congressional representation for the 48 states.

As states grow, hold even or lose population, the U. S. house of representatives is supposed to reflect their shift in relative position. Each state's membership should be in proportion to its population strength.

After recent decennial censuses, the require changes haven't been made without cries of pain. For the total house membership has been kept to 435, assuring that gains by some states will mean losses in others. No congressman likes to see his district wiped off the map or his state reduced in congressional power.

In the past, many in the house have often resisted the necessary re-apportioning of seats. But eventually the law-makers authorized the changes and brought the line-up up to date.

The present arrangement is a little different. The carrying out of the new apportionment is not wholly dependent on house action. If the house fails to endorse it, then automatic procedure comes into play and all states are formerly notified of the changes they must make.

The official figures this time won't affect 1950 election lineups. But they are expected to be translated into a new distribution by 1952, the next presidential year.

It will be a great surprise if the usual resistance does not show itself. Because of the substantial growth in national population, there may be more than usual effort toward increasing total house membership so the less fortunate states won't lose their existing number of seats.

The prospective gains of California are enough to stir a fight. In the last decade it has added more than 3,000,000 people and now boasts some 10,000,000. It has surpassed Pennsylvania to become the nation's second most populous state.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—With U. S.-U. S. S. R. relations getting no better as a result of the U. S.-plane-over-Latvia incident, it's important to take a look at the recent Hague conference and see how the North Atlantic pact is working.

Gen. Franco

The French, usually considered the great reservoir of military man-power, told Hague conferees they had an army tied up in Indo-China, where Communist guerrillas are killing French officers at the rate of one-half a West Point graduating class per year. It would be political dynamite to increase the French army now, they said.

Other smaller countries also didn't want to overtax their military budgets, all of which paved the way for two important proposals:

1. Bringing Spain, together with Franco's 500,000-man army, into the North Atlantic pact.
2. Arming a West German army of 150,000 men.

THUMBS DOWN ON SPAIN

Neither proposal got anywhere. The Spanish proposal, long advocated by the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, was vigorously opposed by British Defense Minister Emmanuel Shinwell, who explained that the British Labor government had only a margin of six votes in the house of commons, and that bringing Spain into the North Atlantic pact would lose Premier Attlee about 40 votes. Political opinion in British labor circles, he said, was adamant against Dictator Franco.

So the Spanish proposal was dropped. Note—Secretary of Defense Johnson has told friends that the Truman administration is not anxious to resume full-scale relations with Franco until he gives Protestants the right of free worship. Spanish Protestants are now virtually second-class citizens, it being difficult for a Protestant to win promotion in the Spanish army or in other government posts.

The plan for a 150,000-man German army was made by the British, who argued that such a force could not be a threat to France unless equipped with an air force. The British proposed giving the Germans land-arm equipment instead.

But the French said no. A German army, they argued, would do a right-about-face, and go over to the enemy in case of Russian attack. So the idea of a German army was also dropped.

That left Western Europe still considerably shy of the armies considered necessary to hold back a Soviet attack, and with some private talk among European defense chiefs that the United States should keep an army permanently on the continent.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Perle Mesta, madame minister to Luxembourg, is back in town after only six months overseas—officially for consultation with Secretary Acheson. Real reason, however, is to see if she can talk President Truman out of an ambassadorship. After all, Eugene Anderson, of Red Wing, Minn., is ambassador to Denmark. . . . The joint chiefs of staff have sent Secretary Acheson a stiff memo asking that he stop the shipment of steel from Western Germany to Communist China. High Commissioner McCloy has given his O. K. to the shipment of 15,000 tons of steel rails to China from German factories, but U. S. military men don't like it. Reminds them of the days when we sent oil and scrap iron to Japan. . . . The CIO is bringing 20 groups of unemployed from major U. S. cities to urge prompt government action to relieve growing unemployment. . . . The rift between southern farm and northern big-city Democrats in congress is wider than ever since the Kerr natural gas bill was railroaded through congress by a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

A WORD TO THE WISE

Sometime ago I coined the term "stoplights of speech" to designate those pronouncements or mannerisms which snap the listener's attention, and cause his mind to switch from what is being said to how it is being said. I chose the word "stoplight" because it accurately describes the manner in which the listener's mind puts on the brakes and comes to a full stop the instant a speaker or broadcaster uses an erroneous pronunciation, or indulges in any linguistic trick that is unorthodox, pompous, or affected.

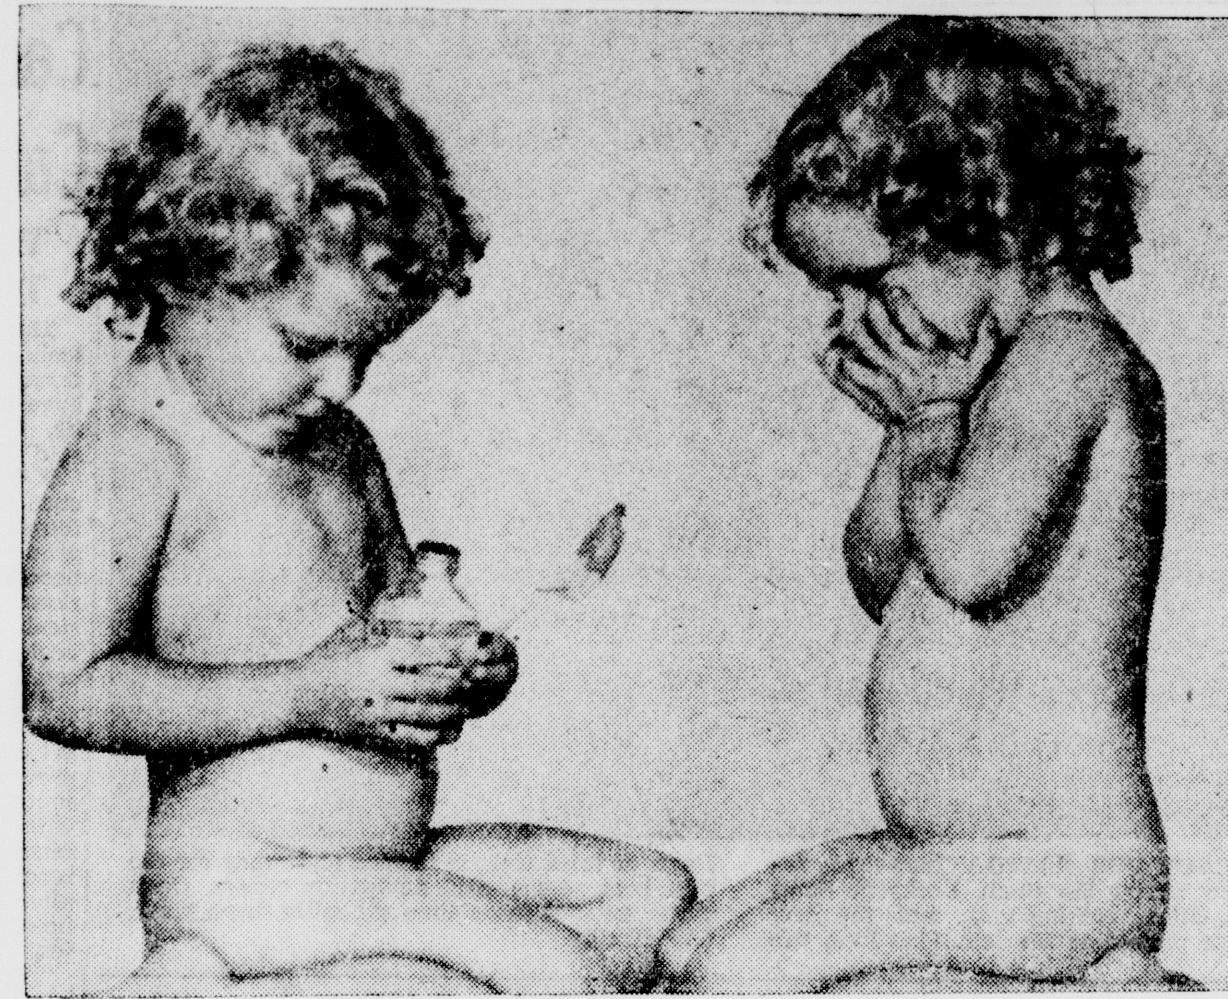

This is an extremely important fact of which all public speakers need to be frequently reminded.

Let us say that we are listening to a speaker on the Town Meeting program. He has our complete attention as he scores one convincing point after another. But suddenly the red light flashes STOP! as he says, "I have been told that. . ."

An announcer is extolling the excellence of a new radio receiving set. His voice is pleasing, his delivery is polished, and his sales talk has us almost reaching for the checkbook. But his "automatic wreck-chord changer" slams on the brakes.

An elderly commentator's "Rush-ee-uh" and "Rush-ee-un" cause the spotlight to blink so impellingly as to make it impossible to follow his analysis of foreign affairs.

A woman broadcaster, who has just discovered the broad A, creates a veritable traffic jam as she bumbles, "I have been aghast at the vahst disahster at the air-ahft blahst."

IT'S A SERIOUS AILMENT, all right, and few if any escape the dire effects of Spring Fever. This used to be sulphur and molasses time but the youngster at the upper right thinks the idea as old-fashioned as it is distasteful. And, as a matter of fact, the doctors say he's right. Best thing to cure Spring Fever is exercise—but in the middle of the exercise the fever takes hold, and there you are. About the nicest malady in or out of the pharmacopeia.

Doctors Are Wonderful, But They Simply Cannot Cure Spring Fever

By GORDON WILSON

The healing arts have made tremendous strides in the past few years, but their most distinguished practitioners freely admit there's one disease they'll never be able to cure.

It's spring fever—an ailment which you can see in its most advanced stages in every home, office, school, store and, believe it or not, even in newspaper composing rooms at this burgeoning season of the year.

Grandmother probably won't believe it, and may not like this new fangled idea, but it's a fact, according to all medical testimony, that she was wrong when she gave her protesting offspring large doses of sulphur and molasses, sassafras tea, yarb tea, dandelion tea and other concoctions to cure Spring fever.

There's No Such Illness

For, there really isn't any such illness at all. But doctors, no matter how modern, readily admit that something does happen to folks when the rigors of winter give way to the warmth of the new season.

As a matter of fact, the feeling is so general, and spring fever is so much a part of our folkways, that the United States Public Health Service doesn't scoff when you ask them to tell you just what it is that makes people react the way they do when the sun begins to confirm the things the calendar has been intimating.

First of all, there's that feeling of languor—the youngster looking off into space in class; the office that slows down to a walk; the clerk in the store who seems miles and miles away from ribbons and gadgets; the householder who starts gathering his garden tools and takes a nap instead.

The reason for that, according to Uncle Sam's health experts, probably is that the cold of winter induces the average person to work harder, to indulge in more strenuous activity and to use up more mental, nervous and physical energy. Then the first warm days bring a letdown after a mode of life conditioned also by bad weather, and a certain lack of fresh air.

Some physiological chemists here, that there may be certain differences in the make-up of the human blood in summer and winter. As a matter of fact, that's exactly what grandma had in mind when she forced that sulphur and molasses down the throats of little Johnny and Susie.

Tenies Won't Help

Those who hold this view explain it thus: You need more blood in warm weather to carry heat from the interior of the body out to the skin. It takes about five days for the body to manufacture the additional blood. Hence, in the first warm days, before this extra supply has been produced, the human body can be likened to an automobile that doesn't have enough water in the radiator; which may partly explain spring fever as a physical phenomenon.

But however that may be, there's general agreement that tonics and concoctions aren't what's needed to effect a cure for what the Public Health Service tells you emphatically and without quibbling "is not a disease."

Rather, it is but a popular name for a common experience. And old reliable Mother Nature has provided tonics for the Springtime that not only are better than any of the traditional standbys but also far more agreeable to take.

The prescription offered, officially and with all the authority anyone could ask for, is a delightful one.

Here it is: Fresh, clean foods and lots of fruit; plenty of fresh air and sleep; and more outdoor exercise. The call of the outdoors is real at this season, and should not be denied. That, you are told, will do more than anything else to chase the physical and mental languors of spring fever.

No, nothing one can take internally will cure this pernicious yet delightful ailment. It's all a matter of a sensible readjustment. It's just a question of the power of mind over matter. All it requires is a few hours in the sunshine behind a lawn mower. Positively nothing in the Pharmacopoeia will do it one smidgen of good. Grandmother was an old fuddydudly and she's years out of date with that sulphur and molasses and dandelion tea business.

Yes, we're emancipated from all that in this modern age.

Still, the way we feel right now, maybe just a couple of doses of that stuff mightn't be bad at all. Better than that lawnmower idea, anyway!

Upper Peninsula Resorts Offer Improved Service

MARQUETTE, Mich. —(P)—Thanks to the advice and counsel extended by Michigan State College, the University of Michigan and federal and state agencies, Upper Peninsula resort operators believe they can offer service that will compare favorably with that found by tourists anywhere.

Under the guidance of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, many of the Peninsula's 1,200 proprietors of summer hotels, resorts, trailer camps, cottages and cabins have taken advantage of the educational advantages offered during the last several years to help improve the accommodations, facilities and service they will offer visitors.

Workshop-conferences, clinics and individual consultation available through the extension service of educational institutions have made resort men aware of the responsibility they owe tourists.

Extensive Advertising Now, they believe, the lessons they've learned will begin to pay off. Here's how one tourist operator in the Marquette area put it: "By offering improved service, better food attractively prepared, modern and comfortable sanitary facilities, attractive landscaping and proper layout of our resorts, along with an understanding of the commercial values of hospitable service, we can augment the pulling power of the hundreds of thousands of dollars now being spent annually in vacation advertising of this area."

"Some of us were slow to realize the advantages of the educational programs made available to us, but now we look upon them as a much-needed service and can appreciate the attempt to improve the quality of accommodations and character of service offered visitors to the peninsula."

The Development Bureau, in cooperation with other state resort associations and the Michigan Tourist Council, is conducting an extensive advertising effort to bring the region's vacation appeal to persons planning summer vacations.

Over 14,000,000 readers, through magazine ads placed by the tourist council, will learn of Michigan's lure. Exhibits at sports and travel shows in Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit also are carrying the recreation message to thousands of others.

Through weekly bulletin service by the bureau, chambers of commerce and resort associations are able to follow up that campaign with literature advertising their individual areas.

Visitors Increasing Resort industry leaders are pleased to note that improved transportation facilities have been made available, along with the better accommodations and service offered tourists. Plane and bus service has been expanded since a year ago, and state highways are being improved each year.

"A survey made by the Collier Publishing Co. last fall proved that Michigan ranks third from a standpoint of tourist dollars," said James J. Beckman, Marquette, bureau president.

"Traffic counts at the Straits of Mackinac, Menominee, Ironwood and Sault Ste. Marie show that the number of visitors to the Upper Peninsula is increasing annually and that the overall effort to sell Upper Michigan's recreation appeal is paying dividends."

Letters From The People

The FBI Doesn't Make Policy

Dear Editor:

As a result of evidence introduced in the dramatic communist trials, a great to-do has been made over alleged illegal activities by the FBI, including wiretapping. This issue, as is to be expected, is being built up by left-wing groups.

However, many honest and sincere people are worried about the possibility of police state methods being adopted here. So the position of the FBI should be clearly understood.

First of all, as J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out, wire tapping is not carried on a wholesale scale, as the left-wing comrades would have us believe. It is authorized only in cases of the gravest kind involving espionage, sabotage and kidnapping. In such cases, it is often the only possible means of developing evidence.

Moreover, as Mr. Hoover also said, the FBI does not make policy in this or anything else. It follows policies laid down by its superiors in the government. The policy on wire tapping was set by the late President Roosevelt in 1940. In each case when the use of a wire tap is under consideration, the authorization of the Attorney General must be obtained before the tap can be utilized by the FBI.

This policy was followed by Attorney Generals Biddle, Jackson and Clark. The latter two are now justices of the Supreme Court. And the policy has been reiterated by the present Attorney General, Mr. McGrath.

According to Mr. Hoover, "The FBI has less than 150 telephone taps in existence, confined to internal security cases, throughout the entire United States and its possessions." The tap, in other words, is employed only in extremely serious cases, which definitely affect the national security, and then only on the authorization of the highest legal officer of the Executive branch of the government.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN
JINGLE MONEY—With many commodities priced between five and ten cents, and still others priced so closely that it fractures the penny, there are proposals to have Uncle Sam turn out 2½ and 7½ cent coins.

DUNATHAN

There is some merit to the proposal. But there are also certain detrimental factors which should be considered.

One of the latter is the volume of jingle money all of us must carry around to pay for smaller items of merchandise. It is bad enough now. Would the minting of the odd-value coins reduce the storehouse of change the individual must carry in pocket or purse? We doubt it.

HAS BEEN TRIED—Although the suggested 2½ and 7½ cent coins would be something of a novelty, it would not be the first time Uncle Sam has circulated hard money at values that now seem odd.

We have so long grown accustomed to the cent, the nickel, the dime, that any suggested departure seems unusual.

But the 2½ and 7½ cent coin advocates point out that the first coinage from the United States mint after its establishment in 1792 included a copper half-cent piece.

In later years there were three-cent, two-cent, and twenty-cent coins—the latter discontinued in 1878.

HOLDING THE LINE—Backers of the bill now in congress to establish 2½ and 7½ coins say their proposal is economically sound. One of the reasons is that it would save consumers the extra half-cent they now often pay on fractionally-priced items.

But they may be overlooking the other side: That items now selling for five cents would in many instances be boosted almost overnight to 7½ cents; ten cent items to 12½ cents; 15 cent items to 17½ cents.

The five and dime combination has held and will continue to hold the less costly items down in pricing—although continued efforts are being made to break the price line that was badly bent during the wartime boom.

WHERE THE SAVING—Volume sales are usually a requisite for the five and dime items and they are priced to move fast. The margin of profit is shaved as thin as possible for that reason—and to keep the items at the nickel or dime price encourages sales.

The odd 2½ and 7½ cent coinage, as proposed to congress, would provide the opportunity to move the price up to the next step of seven and one-half and 12 and one-half cents. If this results, where would be the saving on the "fractionally priced items"?

THE COST FACTOR—The minting of new-value coins might affect the pricing of an item—but it would not change the cost factor. If an item cannot be priced at a nickel or a dime, we now have the ubiquitous one-cent piece to pay the difference.

Over the decades there have been various official and private proposals that the U. S. make coins of odd amounts and different materials. A 12½-cent piece has been suggested to permit purchase of just one of the two-for-a-quarter articles frequently placed on sale.

The relationship of production cost to sale price cannot be altered by giving the consumer additional jingle money.

The only complaint most consumers make is that, bothersome though the coins are to carry about, they still do not have enough of the present small change. People who are dissatisfied with their nickels and dimes as a medium of exchange can always send them to me.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is anchor ice?

A—It is ice which forms on the bottom of a body of water. On clear cold nights in winter, the loss of heat from swift running cold currents along the bottom of shallow water will cause the formation of this ice. When water at the bottom of the stream comes in contact with rocks these may serve as nuclei and the water freezes to that object, forming a growth of ice in an upstream direction.

There's a stirring 'cross the country that arrives with every spring, when the dormant grass is greening and the birds are on the wing. There's a flexing of the muscles and a testing of the throat, and a quick return to shirtsleeves from the confines of a coat. There's some peanuts being roasted and they're icing up the beer, and its Glory Hallujah, for the baseball season's here!

It's the time to climb the grandstands and to settle down for fun, or to moan and groan and holler 'cause them bums can't get a run. It's the time to doff your necktie and to battle with the ump, who is not inclined to mind that he's a blind and stupid chump. And it's also open season on the good old popcorn stand, as the country goes a little nuts with baseball time at hand.

There will be, of course, a lot of strife before World Series time, and what fans will say of managers could constitute a crime. There'll be lots of joy in Mudville and a lot of sorrow too, for Old Casey didn't copyright his failure to come through. But bring on the baseball season, as a sport it rates sublime, and the country o'er rejoices that it's homerun bustin' time!

Illinois Vote Cheers G. O. P.

Farm Price Drop May Hurt Demos

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON.—The Republican National committee is taking satisfaction from the returns in the Illinois primary election. Publicity release proclaims that the figures mean the defeat of Senator Scott Lucas by his Republican opponent, former Congressman Everett Dirksen.

The Republican vote in the country towns of Illinois was the largest on record according to Chairman Guy George Gabrielson. And Cook county, the stronghold of the Democratic party, fell far behind the hopeful predictions of party bosses. The Democrats dispute this claim.

CHILDS

Understandably, the Republicans are eager to find reasons for rejoicing. But it's just possible that these hosannahs may be a little premature.

Primary elections are notoriously unreliable indicators to what happens in the fall. In the primary in 1948, for example, the then Republican Senator, C. Wayland (Curly) Brooks, together with another Republican candidate polled more than 700,000 votes in the Democratic primary. In the Democratic primary Paul Douglas got 550,000 votes. Yet in November the total for Douglas was 2,147,000 and for Brooks 1,740,000.

G. O. P. Victory Possible
There are, however, factors in Illinois that lend color to the Republican optimism: A Republican victory in that state is possible and for reasons that may have very little to do with the larger and noisier issues of foreign policy and Communism in government. These last are the issues that Dirksen, who has now reverted to his old isolationism, is trumping as day after day he travels from town to town.

The hard-boiled saying about people voting with their pocket-books has in it a degree of truth. The pocketbooks of the Illinois farmers are being hit by the decline in farm prices of the past two years. The same thing is true in other states with critical election contests.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan has been talking about this for months, but leaders of his own party in Congress do not seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. In speech after speech Brannan has pointed out that farm prices have on the average dropped 23 per cent in less than two years. The farmer is still paying within five per cent of the price level of two years ago for what he has to buy, according to Brannan.

For individual crops the drop is much more precipitous. The department of agriculture estimates the decline in the price of feed grains and hay since that high point of January, 1948, at 47 per cent. This means corn, which is the major crop of the farmers of Illinois and Iowa.

The decline for the same period in the price of eggs and poultry is put by the department at 37 per cent; for meat animals, 31 per cent; oil crops, including soy beans, 40; dairy products, 24; and food grains, which means wheat, 32. These are dramatic changes and they are particularly dramatic when they are contrasted with the promises President Truman made in the 1948 campaign.

Democrats Carried Iowa
You can make a pretty good argument to the effect that those promises in the Middle West carried the day for Truman. Don't forget that the Democrats triumphed in normally Republican Iowa, contrary to the beliefs and expectations of almost everyone.

Of course, these changes are not nearly so drastic as those that occurred after World War I when there were no price supports. From May of 1920 to June of 1921 average farm prices dropped 53 per cent. In the election in the fall of 1920 the Democrats were turned out of office and Warren Harding gave his amiable blessing to normalcy and isolation.

This is a precedent which may or may not have a bearing on what is in the offing for us today. Twenty-three per cent is less than half of 53 per cent. But, on the other hand, the farmer of today has become accustomed to stable prices sustained by government subsidy.

It takes little imagination to see the consequences that would flow from a victory for the Republicans resulting from the votes of disaffected farmers. The isolationist and "Get Acheson" faction would be certain to claim it as their own. That trend would be confirmed in the party.

You can imagine Senator Robert A. Taft returning from a triumph in Ohio in the full flush of confidence prepared to cement his hold on both policy and the

Navy Officers Too Boastful

They Cannot Win Wars Alone

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK.—The navy does so well at sea and under the sea and in the air that it sometimes seems a shame they have to let the admirals loose on strange terrain, such as business lunches, to undo all the good work the sailors are capable of when they stick to their business.

We cite the recent outburst of Rear Admiral Charles B. Momsen, assistant chief of naval operations for undersea warfare. Admiral Momsen is a brilliant submariner, whose accomplishments include the invention of the Momsen lung, that gadget which allows stricken submariners to escape from submerged pig-boats without busting their gills in the effort.

Navy Blocks Invasion?
Now we have the valiant warrior talking to the combined business-men's clubs in Springfield, Mass., and he is saying for the headlines that America will never become a battleground for foreign troops so long as we keep a navy.

He says that invasion and occupation of this country by a major power cannot be accomplished by such "half-measures" as planes and submarines. "By fully exploiting the use of sea-power it will always be possible for this country to insure that a war will not be fought on our own soil and will be carried to the terrain of the probable enemy," he said.

If the admiral means a war with stones and sticks and spears and even guns, I imagine he is right. Otherwise, he sounds like a small boy reiterating the boast that his old man can whip the other kid's old man.

In the ultimate horror of a future war directed at us it is very probable that no formal invasion will be necessary. I do not recollect we needed much of a beachhead on Hiroshima, after they splashed the big apple on it. I doubt very much if anybody would want to occupy a plot which had just been subjected to its big brother, the H-bomb. If they threw the full book of bacteriological warfare at us, over a period of time, the conquerors could stand offshore in a canoe and accept a surrender by semaphore.

German Navy Was Great
The German navy was great, and its submarines superior, in two wars, both of which were lost. The German navy became non-functional from attrition at sea—and because of foul-ups at home. A navy is great so long as it has bases and yards and replacements of men and materiel. It ain't worth a buck when the supplies stop coming and the replacements dwindle.

Such "half-measures" as enemy planes and submarines, bearing the right sort of projectiles with the right sort of stuff in their noses, can make a lost sheep of the best navy in the world if they raise enough ruckus on the home side. A guided missile from afar, Detroit, can throw a hook into the best planned battle array at sea.

Takes All to Win
A navy's role in modern war, to a large extent, is mostly offensive. It batters the islands, and sinks enemy shipping, and flies its planes on strikes, and provides cover for landing troops, and lugs men and supplies from here to there. It is a functional component of air force and ground force and that's all it is. As a protective barrier for huge home terrain it is only a very small, and fairly unimportant, section of a whole.

The air force will not win the next war. The bug-boys in the labs won't win it. The rocket-kids and the guided-missile geniuses won't win it. Neither will the artillery or the tanks or the infantry or the marines. According to their cooperation, all will win it, or all will hang separately. There is a chance nobody on either side will win it.

I believe we all grow weary of the repeated cheap boasting of the discordant services, aimed primarily at buying a favorable vote with the public first and a fat congressional appropriation as the by-product. If they would slap a muzzle on them all, for a year or so, there is the off-chance we could weld a machine that might substantiate the boasts of its component parts.

Salads Topic Of Danforth Meeting

DANFORTH—The Danforth Home Economics club met at the home of Mrs. Alex Malmstead Tuesday evening for a demonstration of seasonal salads given by Mrs. Felix Johnson and Mrs. George Larson. A tasty lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Those attending were Mrs. Knute Swanson, Miss Lillie Lindstrom, Mrs. Harry Blixt, Mrs. George Chailier, Mrs. Felix Johnson, Mrs. Wallace Irving and Mrs. George Larson.

Plans were made for a meeting on April 25 at the home of Mrs. George Larson. Program planning for the coming year will be considered and it is important that all members attend. A meeting on gardens is scheduled to be held Tuesday evening, April 18, at 8 at the court house in Escanaba and both men and women are invited to attend this meeting.

WORKLESS WASHDAY CLINIC

TUESDAY 2 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

55 MINUTES THAT WILL SAVE HOURS EVERY WEEK

Home Laundering Expert Gives Plan to Local Women At Workless Washday Clinic

TUES. APR. 18 ONLY

An event of particular interest to local homemakers will take place in a few days when the Workless Washday

Clinic, conducted by a trained Home Laundry Consultant, is presented at our store. There will be three separate sessions each day to accommodate all who wish to attend.

NEW EQUIPMENT SHOWN

The Clinic, which has met with enthusiastic response at showings throughout the country, is carefully planned to familiarize housewives of this community with the work-saving, time-saving advantages offered by modern home laundry equipment.

A wide variety of garments, plus a typical load of household linens, will actually be washed during the sessions.

Emphasizing the fact that there are only two basic laundering methods—the revolving cylinder and the agitator—the Home Service Consultant conducting the Clinic demonstrates washers which employ each method, thus aiding each woman in the audience to determine which type is best suited to her requirements.

ALL URGED TO ATTEND

We are most anxious to have every homemaker in the community take advantage of the entertaining and instructive clinic, and suggest you plan to attend now and bring one or more friends with you. Admission, of course, is free.

TUESDAY
Two Clinic Sessions
2 P.M. and 7:30 P.M.

Offer Personal Help on Washing Problems

All women attending the Workless Washday Clinic are urged to ask questions on home laundering problems of the Home Service Consultant in charge.

There will be helpful suggestions on water, soap and detergents, softeners and special treatment of fabrics.

The question and answer period has proved particularly enlightening wherever the Clinic has been held and is one of the highlights of the program.

WASHDAY PLANALYZER HELPS YOU CHOOSE THE RIGHT WASHER

This unique free service, available at our store, offers the homemaker positive assurance that the type of washer she selects will best meet her family's laundering requirements for years to come. Be sure to get your copy of the Washday Planalyzer.

Two-Story House Has An Air Of Old Dixie

HOME OF THE WEEK — "The Southern." The high pillared portico on the front gives distinction to what would otherwise be a simple square dwelling. Floor plans provide three bedrooms on the second floor.

A full two-story portico supported by high columns give an air of old Dixie to a simple, square type house designed by the Home-of-the-Week Plan Service which is appropriately labeled "The Southern."

The 24x31-foot house could be built on a 50-foot lot, with clearance at one side for a driveway. In the example pictured, a piazza on one side increases the house's width to 34 feet, but a sloping lot here permitted placing the garage under the piazza.

The insulated roof of this home is covered with black asphalt shingles; the exterior walls with white painted, wide clapboards. Black shutters at the front door and windows match the black roof.

Windows Light Stairway
A front hall inside the main entrance has a coat closet and the stairs to the second floor on the left. The stairway is lighted by windows at both its top and lower landings. Opposite the bottom landing, across the hall, is an archway opening on the living room. The entry hall runs from the front door to doors to the kitchen, the stairway to the cellar and a large coat closet for the family's wraps.

A living room measures 19x13½ feet. A fireplace with flush mantel is centered in the long outside wall, between a window and French doors to the piazza. On a narrow lot, this piazza could be relocated on the rear of the house with French doors opening into the dining room.

The dining room and living room are connected by a wide open arch. The dining room, measuring 12x10½ feet, has a pair of built-in corner china cabinets as its principal feature.

A door between these cabinets opens on a rear corridor which passes a small closet and a lavette before reaching the kitchen.

Well-Equipped Kitchen
The kitchen, which measures 9x11½ feet, has the stove, a counter and the refrigerator lined along one wall. Across the room, floor space is set aside under a window for a breakfast set, while another window on this side lights the sink and an L-shaped work counter with wall cabinets above. A broom and storage closet is at the far end of the room, by the service entry door.

The second floor of "The Southern" has a T-shaped hall at the top of the stairs, with the bathroom at the bottom of the T; the stair landing and a linen closet at the extremes of the cross section. Doors to the three bedrooms open off this latter portion of the hall space. The bedrooms all have windows on two exposures and generous closet space—two of the rooms boast two closets. Bedroom measurements are 13½x13, 13x12 and 13x10½ feet.

The full cellar of "The Southern" will necessarily have to have the furnace placed under the living room in order to connect with the chimney that serves the fireplace. Laundry facilities would go under the kitchen.

Full roof and sidewall insulation is recommended for this type house and a preferable site would be one fronting from northeast to northwest.

Complete plans and specifications for "The Southern" and other houses in this series are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents write to the Home-Building Editor, Daily Press, Dept. 15 and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Sediment Will Cut Hot Water Supply

When your supply of hot water gradually becomes inadequate, the collection of sediment in the plumbing system is indicated. Invariably such deposits pile up in the lowest pipe sections, primarily in the cellar connection between the tank and the heater.

To re-establish normal flow, the clogged pipe or pipes must be disconnected and flushed out. To avoid flooding the cellar as well as damage to the heating system the services of an experienced plumber are recommended. Plumbing repairs done other than by an expert may lead to future difficulties.

Chimneys Need Special Attention

Should Be Built To Give Proper Draft And To Avoid Fires

There are two considerations to be borne in mind when building chimneys for a house. These are: (1) Will they provide a draft for the fires they serve, and (2) are they so built as not to be a fire hazard?

Each fire must have its own separate flue to insure the proper functioning of the chimney as a vent. In addition, the cross-section area of each flue must be adequate for the fire it serves. The top of the chimney must be at least two feet higher than the highest ridge of the house.

Flues should be as straight as possible. Where bends occur, they should be gradual.

Tile Flue Lining Needed
Each flue should be lined with regulation tile flue lining, with all joints completely filled, to make the chimney fire safe. At least four inches of brickwork or concrete should surround the flues.

In arrangements where there are two flues to a chimney, they may be placed side by side without any other division than the walls of the flue linings themselves. However, the joints of these tiles should be staggered so that the possibility of air leaks from one flue to the next is eliminated.

There should be no woodwork closer than two inches to any chimney. All spaces between the wood frame and the masonry where a chimney passes through a floor should be filled with non-inflammable material.

Census-Taker Chased With Umbrella, Fined $18 At Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA — (AP) — An $18 fine was assessed against Sanborn Cooper after a woman testified in police court that she chased him from her home during a census-taking row.

Mrs. L. B. Barnett said that when Cooper shouted at her because she was unable to answer some of his questions, she seized an umbrella and chased him off. Cooper was charged with disorderly conduct.

Police Judge A. W. Callaway withdrew the fine when relatives told him Cooper recently suffered a nervous breakdown.

District Supervisor W. A. Whitehurst said the 39-year-old Cooper has been fired as a census-taker.

Swallows Back In California Prison

FOLSOM, Calif. — (AP) — For some years the Mission San Juan Capistrano has had an apparent monopoly on a punctual-type swallow which left en masse every Oct. 23 and returned every March 19. Bird experts figure the Amazons spend the winter along the Amazon. Poems, songs, and annual newspaper accounts have been written about the way they always come back on the same day.

Comes now, belatedly, Folsom State Prison, California's maximum security institution for the extra-tough criminal, claiming that the swallows are just as punctual here. Associate Warden W. J. Ryan has been around 36 years. He says the birds never fail. They nest under the eaves of the prison cannery, under corners of the walls, and in rock pockets high in the prison quarry.

Newest Gadget Is Built-In Can Opener

It was bound to come sooner or later—and it has. Latest gadget that can be built into a kitchen wall is a can opener. A chromium-plated panel opens, lowering a crank-operated can opener into position where a quick whirl cuts off the lid of the can and holds the lid, preventing it from sinking into the food.

The European Recovery Program not only is being reduced according to plan, but it is showing the results promised when it was launched in 1948—Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D) of Illinois.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A FLEXIBLE PLAN for use with or without basement, this is design 5R-47 by Elmer Gylleck, Architect, 130 S. Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. It can be used for two or three bedrooms, an expandable feature that needs no excess attic construction. Without basement, the house comprises 16,600 cubic feet, including garage. A basement brings this up to 19,500. Local builders know the average cost per cubic foot for this type of house. The architect suggests an exterior of wood siding and stone dressing with a roof of wood or asphalt shingles.

Better Heating System Sought

Research Group To Test Equipment Under All Conditions

Better heating for the low cost house is one of the primary objectives of an extensive research program just launched at the University of Illinois in co-operation with the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers.

A six-room dwelling to be known as the Research House is now under construction at Urbana, Ill. The house will be equipped with every known device for measuring the performance and efficiency of various types of heating equipment under all conditions.

While the development of heating systems which will fit the restricted cost and space requirements of a low cost residence is one of the chief objectives of the research program, attention will be devoted to many factors affecting the performance of hot water, steam and vapor heating plants.

Operating characteristics of heating plants such as the balancing of the system, the rate of heating in rooms, systems of controls and the rate at which radiators and convectors heat up and discharge their heat, all will be subjected to scientific checking and study with a view to improvement.

The extensive laboratory equipment of the University of Illinois will be utilized to supplement the work to be carried on at the Research House. In addition, the program contemplates a review of the work which has been done by other institutions and agencies in connection with the science of heating.

The clock is ticking, ticking . . . and with each swing of the pendulum the time to save civilization grows shorter—Sen. Brien McMahon (D.) of Connecticut.

Completion Speeded By Dry-Built Method

Elimination of interior decoration problems, including plastering and papering, is assured if a house is finished with an all-wood interior.

Constructing the home entirely of lumber does away with delays due to plaster drying (as well as the mess that goes with any plastering operation) and avoids the introduction of a considerable quantity of water involved in the plastering of any wall. It also expedites completion of the structure and reduces wall cracks.

Maintenance thereafter is no problem, either, with wood paneled walls. Traditional knotty pine or clear pine finished in a light modern treatment is easy to keep clean and doesn't require re-doing every year or two.

Jean Holmes,
Raymond Hagman
Exchange Vows

In a ceremony at St. Patrick's parish house at one o'clock this afternoon Miss Jean E. Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Healy Holmes, 327 North 12th street, became the bride of Raymond Hagman of Gladstone Route One, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hagman of Gladstone. Father Casimir Mark read the service.

The bridal attendants were Betty Sword, sister of the bride, and Melvin Hagman, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride wore an aqua silk street length dress with black and white accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of two lavender orchids. The maid of honor wore a navy blue suit dress with navy and pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Healy Holmes selected a brown ensemble for her daughter's wedding and yellow roses formed her corsage. The bridegroom's mother was in a gray suit with black and gray accessories. Red roses were used in her corsage.

A reception for 75 guests is being held from 2 to 5 at the home of the bride. Centering the bridal table is the traditional four-tiered wedding cake with snapdragons in varied shades at either end.

The newlyweds after a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls will live in Gladstone, where the bridegroom is located in the lumbering business. For traveling the bride is wearing a gray gabardine suit with red accessories.

Betty Erickson,
Richard Lundin
Married Today

St. Joseph's church, bouquets of mixed snapdragons arranged with the altar candles, was the setting for the wedding at 10 this morning of Betty Delight Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Erickson of 1014 Sheridan Road, Escanaba, and Richard Lundin of Chicago, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elms Lundin of Norway, Michigan.

Father Clifford Nadeau of St. Ann's church read the service at a nuptial high mass.

Miss Alice Cossette was organist at the wedding of her former music pupil. Soloists of St. Joseph's choir were Earl Owen and Mrs. Eldridge Baker. At the offertory Miss Doris Costley sang "Ave Maria" by James Ross, at the communion, Mrs. Ray Olson sang "Panis Angelicus" by Lawrence Brun and at the close of the service as the couple knelt at the altar Mrs. James Tonkin sang "On This Day."

Lace and Satin

The bride's gown was designed with a white lace bodice, and a skirt of nylon net over satin. Her finger tip veil of illusion was gathered to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book on the cover of which was a corsage of pink roses and white carnations with satin markers.

The maid of honor, Miss Lenore Herro, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jean Dufresne and Miss Janet Peterson, wore pastel gowns of lace with net overskirts and tiny matching hats and they carried colonial bouquets of pink, yellow and white snapdragons and sweetpeas. The maid of honor was in yellow and the bridesmaids in blue and green.

Mrs. Erickson attended her daughter's wedding in a navy blue suit with which she wore a navy hat and white accessories and Mrs. Lundin was dressed in a navy print suit dress with white accessories. Carnations formed their corsages.

Frank Jansonowicz was best man for Mr. Lundin. Ushering the guests to their places were Wallace Anderson and James Benzie.

Louise Flink
Is Bride In Ceremony Today

Miss Muriel Louise Flink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Flink of 307 South Eighth street, and Melvin J. Derpinghaus of Iron Mountain exchanged marriage vows in a ceremony this afternoon at Bethany Lutheran church. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Derpinghaus of Iron Mountain.

Rev. Gustav Lund read the 2:30 o'clock service. A recital of bridal music by Miss Ruth Glad, Bethany organist, preceded the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roth, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom were the attendants.

The bride wore a soldier blue tailored suit with eggshell and brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses and sweetpeas. Mrs. Roth wore a grey suit with black and white accessories and like flowers were used in her corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of sweetpeas. The bride's mother, who is ill, was unable to be present at the ceremony.

Reception Follows Ceremony

A reception is being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Flink. Arranged with the traditional tiered wedding cake at the reception are pastel snapdragons in a low bowl and cathedral tapers in silver candelabra. Miss Nancy Flink, a student at St. Luke's school of Nursing, Marquette, is presiding at the silver service.

Mr. and Mrs. Derpinghaus will live in Iron Mountain. Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Derpinghaus of Milwaukee and Mrs. Julia Nelson and Byron Nelson of Menominee; Corporal and Mrs. John L. Flink, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Taylor and daughter, Cynthia Ann, and Miss Lois Pate, Louisville, Ky.

HEARING AID SCIENCE ADVANCES

Maico research has produced a new hearing aid which embodies features never before found in a hearing instrument. If you are not obtaining satisfaction from your present model, this instrument will give you—

- More power for the severely deafened
- More hearing in large groups with many people talking
- Most invisible hearing correction possible—no button in the ear.

and yet with these advanced features the new Maico is free of case or clothing noise, it is silent under your clothing.

SOMETHING that cuts a swath all its own in gift items is the famous Carvel Hall cutlery by Bridell. Walk into Garrard Jewellers some day soon just to take a look at the magnificent carving sets or that set of four steak knives. Sharp! In more ways than one! (You will soon be seeing Carvel Hall advertised in the national magazines with a picture of Jean Craine from "Cheaper by the Dozen"). In that same display case at Garrard are the Toastmaster and Sunbeam waffle irons, toasters and mix masters. You'll have blessings from a blissful bride if you've selected one of these as her gift.

I WAS weaned on Fanny Farmer candy. So you know how glad I was to see that Gust As has it at the store now. Come Christmas or a birthday. Dad treated the family to this delicacy, and it's a happy childhood memory. If you haven't tried Fanny Farmer, there's a treat in store for you. I'd be accused of getting awfully gooey and sentimental if I tried to describe it! Enough to say that it's here—in town! Want some prices? One lb. assorted choc., $1.00; 2 lbs., $1.90. Something new—Dixies at 55c a half lb. Also there are bonbons, caramels, bittersweet creams, or special orders filled. Wow, I'm drooling! Gust As isn't going to help this waistline problem!

THE sixth movie to be based on the writings of Ernest Hemingway is "Under My Skin" which comes to the Delft Theater Sunday and Monday. It's based on a well known Hemingway short story, "My Old Man" which is often printed in anthologies of best American stories. The film introduces a very glamorous French gal—Michelle Prelle. Maybe if you tell your husband that, he'll take you, and then you can get to see John Garfield at his rugged best. The story's about horse racing and the background is Paris. Mix that all together, and "Under My Skin" sounds like it will get under yours!

OVERHEARD some girls at the next bridge table saying they supposed the handsome shoes at Roberts Shoe Store were beyond their budget. I put them right there! Of course Roberts do carry the famous Tweedies, Johansen and Red Cross shoes, but they also have the very smart Connie and Jacqueline footwear as low as $5.95 to $8.95. The girls were glad to hear about that. Bet you are too!

YOU'RE safe at first, and last, too, when your valuables are guarded by a Sentry Safe. I examined one of these little miracles at the Cooper Office Equipment Co. It stands two feet tall and 17 inches wide, and its bronze finish and chrome trim make it a neat addition to your office or home. The Sentry Safe has an amazing record of durability. It's been hauled from burning coal piles with its contents unscorched, while other metal furniture has been twisted from the heat. Play safe with a Sentry Safe — only $54.50 at Coopers.

IT'S not a girl—it's a pretty glass that's like a melody at the Photo Art Shop. You must see the Melody Pattern in Coronet Crystal Tumblers that sell for a song—only $1.75 for a set of 8. Each glass has the title of a well known song with a little figure to illustrate it. (The Band Plays On, Old Kentucky Home, How Dry I Am, etc.). These should bring out some conversation as well as a little vocal talent.

IT won't be "Blue Monday" if you stop in at Ward's basement. A specialist on wall tile will be there to demonstrate the correct and easy way to apply tile yourself in the kitchen or bath. At Montgomery Wards you have such gorgeous colors to choose from in two styles of tile—Plastic (color all the way through—won't chip or crack); Aluminum (baked on enamel, rust proof). See the specialist, see the wall tile—see you at Wards on Monday!

A MAN in a restaurant asked the waitress why another customer was surrounded with little cereal boxes all over the floor and small cream bottles on the table. She answered, "He's been here all morning trying to come out even!" I'm that way about stationery—always have either paper or envelopes left over. But those days are over since I've discovered the open stock stationery at the Office Service Co. It's a lovely rippled paper—only 50c for 100 sheets. The envelopes come in packs of 25 for 20c. And when you run out of either, you can always find more on the freshly stocked stationery shelf at the Office Service.

President Pardons Curley Of Boston In Mail Fraud Case

WASHINGTON—President Truman has granted a pardon to former mayor James M. Curley of Boston, convicted of mail fraud.

In 1947, Mr. Truman commuted Curley's six to 18 months sentence, releasing him from the federal prison at Danbury, Conn. Curley had served five months.

The pardon serves to restore all civil rights to Curley, a former Democratic congress member as well as mayor of Boston.

National Forest Timber For Sale

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor, Escanaba, Michigan up to 2:00 P. M., E. S. T., May 24, 1950 and will be opened immediately thereafter, for all the marked or otherwise designated timber on an area of approximately 27 acres in Section 31, T. 40 N., R. 20 W., estimated to contain a net volume of 300 cords of peeled aspen pulpwood, more or less. The volume of the marked or otherwise designated trees has been determined by measuring the volumes in a sufficient number of sample plots to provide an estimate to a statistical accuracy of 11%. The volume indicated is not guaranteed but is to be accepted as final by the purchaser. No bid of less than $426.00 will be accepted. A deposit of $100.00 must accompany each bid to be applied on the purchase price, refunded or retained in part as liquidated damages according to the conditions of the sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted the marked and designated timber should be examined and full information concerning the timber, conditions of sale and submission of bids should be obtained from the Forest Ranger, Rapid River, Michigan, or from the Forest Supervisor, Escanaba, Michigan.

Home Ec Classes In Spring Style Show

A spring style show will be presented by students of the home economics classes at the Gladstone high school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mothers and friends of the class members are invited.

Students will model the garments made during the school year.

Blouses will be shown by the 8th graders, cotton dresses by the freshmen, rayon and wool dresses, blouses and skirts and slacks by sophomores while seniors will show rayon and wool dresses, housecoats, children's garments and blouses and skirts.

The students were taught by Mrs. Doris Swanson.

Modeling will be during a skit which was written by Mary Lancour and Lowana Seeley. Miss Lancour will be the narrator while Mary Beth Hult will be pianist.

Refreshments will be served in the Home Ec living room by 10th grade classes at the close.

General chairman of the event is Roberta Rabitoy.

Justice PostBelieved Salary Was Augmented By Fees

Edwin W. Gray, who was elected justice of the peace in the Manistique municipal election April 3, presented his resignation to the Manistique city council at a special meeting Friday evening. The resignation was accepted by the council.

"I was under the impression that the existing salary of $2760 per annum was augmented by fees collected in the justice court. I now derive certain benefits in my position, such as seniority, house rent and a possible pension plan.

"I emphatically deny that there was any reduction or contemplated reduction in the salary of the justice of the peace."

The city council has announced that it will accept applications for the position up to Wednesday, April 19. The appointment of a justice will be made by the council at its next regular meeting Monday, April 24.

Although Gray was elected to the position for a four year term, the council's appointment will be for a term of only two years, to the next regular municipal election.

Gray defeated W. G. Stephens for the justice position. Gray is employed as a foreman for the Schoolcraft county road commission.

Port Inland
Season OpensFirst Cargo Leaves
Harbor Friday A. M.

The 1950 shipping season at Port Inland was officially opened at 5:30 Friday morning.

At that time the Inland Steel diesel powered carrier, E. J. Block, loaded down with a cargo of fluming stone, slowly put out to open water bound for Indiana Harbor.

The carrier arrived at Port Inland about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and shortly afterward the loading began.

According to A. W. Heitman, general manager at Port Inland, the shipping season is about three weeks behind last year's opening date, which was March 1. The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Woodbine arrived in port Sunday and the harbor has been clear since then. Large masses of ice in the approaches to the harbor caused the delay.

New Punch Adds To Bengal Hopes, Red Rolfe Says

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Manager Red Rolfe can think of several reasons why his Detroit Tigers should be a big factor in the American league pennant chase this Spring.

But he also lists a few factors that might contribute to a downfall.

The Bengal boss did a bit of summing up as the Detroit club stopped over here for its final Spring exhibition games—a pair today and Sunday against the Louisville Colonels of the American Association.

Biggest factor in Detroit's favor for the regular season that opens Tuesday is a new Tiger spirit, Rolfe believes.

"We're more aggressive, have more punch, more confidence," he said.

Another good sign, Rolfe added, is the good pitching that has enabled the Tigers to win 20 of 29 games played to date. Then there is the phenomenal Spring start of Outfielder Hoot Evers, who has batted .394 and banged out seven home runs.

Evers is temporarily sidelined with an ankle injury and may miss the opener at Cleveland but he should be in there before long.

The Tiger manager is cheered by newcomer Jerry Priddy's performance at second and the way Shortstop Johnny Ligon has picked up recently after a slow start.

On the debit side are Hal Newhouser's uncertain arm, First Baseman Dick Kryhoski's inability to hit left-handed pitching and Johnny Groth's mediocre beginning.

Groth is hitting only .276 for the exhibition series, and Rolfe expressed his worry.

"His swing is bad," he explained. "He's not hitting for distance."

He's not hitting consistently," Rolfe said he hoped to work Art Houtteman, Ted Gray and Hal White in three-inning shifts today and possibly give Newhouser a go tomorrow.

Major League Exhibitions Cut By Elements

By the Associated Press

All 16 major league baseball teams had a single thought today—"weather." They could play their scheduled exhibition games.

With their season openers almost upon them, the clubs were anxious for action. Ten big league teams had been slated to play yesterday but the calendar-defying elements—snow and cold—cut their exercise to no more than a vigorous session of gin rummy or a neck-straining glance at the skies.

Snow Covers Field

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers were to have opened a three-game set at Brooklyn's Ebbets field in what was tagged a "re-play" of last fall's world series. But snow fell for a second straight day—almost an inch of it. About 17,000 tickets had been sold, too.

Today the world champion Yankees and Brooklyn's National league pennant holders were to try again, at Yankee stadium.

Other games wiped out in the "cold war" with the weatherman yesterday were:

New York Giants vs. Cleveland at Indianapolis; Washington at Baltimore; Cincinnati at Richmond, Ind.; Boston Red Sox at Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs vs. Chicago White Sox at Chicago.

The Chicago clubs, figuring on making up the loss of yesterday's contest, scheduled a doubleheader at Wrigley field tomorrow. One game was slated for today at Comiskey park.

Of today's nine scheduled games, all but two pitted major league clubs against each other. In the two others, Detroit was visiting Louisville of the American Association and Cincinnati was to meet Indianapolis, also an American Association team.

Keltner Makes Deal

While yesterday's diamond developments strongly resembled a weather report, the dreary day did produce several items of interest.

Veteran infielder Ken Keltner, who on Wednesday was unconditionally released by the Cleveland Indians, lost little time making a good deal for himself. Ken, from his Milwaukee home, phoned general manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox and got a job. No terms were announced. It was believed Ken would fit in mostly as a pinch-hitter and add some reserve power to the Boston team—something it could have used more of the past couple of seasons.

The Yankees sold two players outright and optioned two others to their Kansas City farm club. Pitcher Frank (Spec) Shea, a 1947 star with the parent club but a disappointment since, and bonus pitcher Paul Hinrichs were sold. Optioned were first baseman Fenton Mole and pitcher Wally Hood. The Pittsburgh Pirates sold Ray Poat, 33-year-old right-handed pitcher, to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league.

Negro Girl Cagers And All Stars Play Sunday

The Chocolate Coeds of Chicago, Negro girls basketball team, will play an Escanaba All Star team Sunday afternoon at the St. Joseph (Bonitas) gymnasium Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. A preliminary game between Clairmonts and the Merchants is scheduled for one o'clock.

Heading the stars of the Chocolate Coeds is Helen "Streamline" Smith, who is six feet, seven inches tall, said to be the tallest Negro girl in basketball competition today. She is reported to be a sharpshooter who plays the game with the skill of some of the better male players.

The All Stars will have in their lineup Fran Pryal, Don Lewis, Roy Johnson, George Anderson, Tom St. Germain, Bob Dufour, Ed Gauthier, Joe Friedgens, Bob Anderson and Mickey Kuchenberg.

The Coeds boast a lineup of outstanding stars, all veterans of independent basketball, most of them college graduates.

The team played 89 games last year against men's teams, winning 51 of them.

SEBO WAS CATCHER

EAST LANSING—Steve Sebo, new Michigan State freshman football coach, also starred in baseball as a Spartan undergraduate. Sebo, a catcher, led his team in hitting in 1935 with a .312 mark and boasted a fine .402 average in 1936.

Packers Play Four Green Bay Games Two In Milwaukee

GREEN BAY, Wis.—The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League will play four games in city stadium here and two at State Fair park in Milwaukee this fall, Packer President Emil Fischer announced today.

The six-game "home" schedule includes:

Sept. 17, Detroit Lions; Sept. 24, Washington Redskins at Milwaukee; Oct. 1, Chicago Bears; Oct. 22, New York Yankees; Nov. 12, Los Angeles Rams at Milwaukee; Nov. 26, San Francisco Forty-Niners.

The Packers, who operate in the National Division of the NFL will play an exhibition game here Aug. 16, with the Chicago Cardinals of the American division.

College All-Stars Beat Globe Trotters 47-39 In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The College All-Stars rallied last night to whip the Harlem Globe Trotters, 47 to 39, before a Cincinnati Garden basketball crowd of 13,521.

It was the All-Stars' fifth victory in 13 starts in the cross country tour.

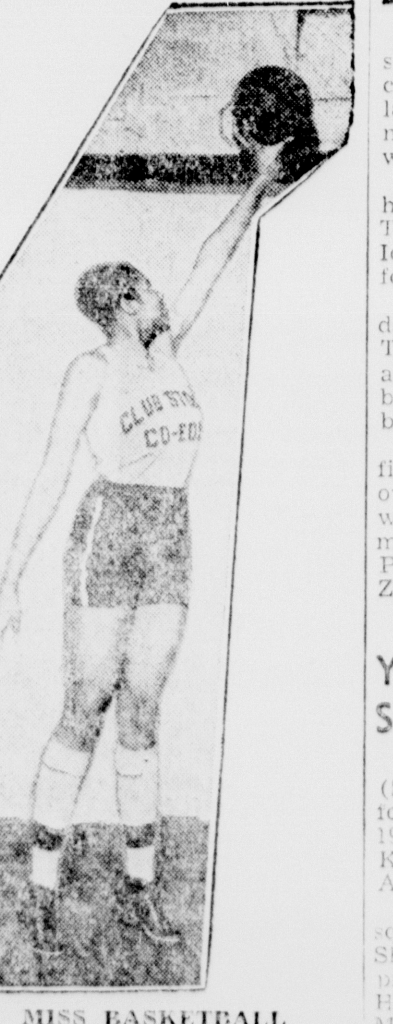

The All Stars grabbed an early lead and had a 12 to 8 margin at the first quarter. The pros weren't able, however, to cope with the shooting of the All Stars in the final half.

Speedway Race Draws 52 Entries; Scramble For Spots Assured

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—The usual elimination scramble for the 33 starting spots in the 500-mile Indianapolis motorspeedway race, May 30, was assured today by 52 entries in the hands of speedway president Wilbur Shaw.

Shaw predicted the field would reach 65 to 70 before entries close at midnight today.

New entries included Norm Olson, Detroit and Edward Gula, Hamtramck, Mich.

MISS BASKETBALL

Old Champ Jeffries Is Husky Lad At 75

By BOB MYERS

BURBANK, Calif.—(AP)—It's diamond jubilee time today in the life of the last of the world's old line heavyweight champions, James J. Jeffries.

It's big Jim's 75th birthday, and No. 75 finds him still a strapping bear of a man, alert and friendly, but a little on the aging side.

There have been many large birthday parties for the onetime king of the ring, but this one has taken on the aspects of an official holiday—city and state.

Burbank's official city family has proclaimed it "Jim Jeffries Day," and Gov. Earl Warren has extended official greetings to birthday president Wilbur Shaw.

And the sports crowd, with the boxing delegation in the fore, was invited en masse to Jeffries' sprawling cottage for a birthday party this afternoon.

Jeffries was born April 15,

1875, in the little town of Carrol, O. The family moved to Los Angeles when Jim was a youngster, and it was there that he grew and developed into what many an old time insister says was the greatest heavyweight of all time.

Deeply etched in the annals of boxing, of course, are the highlights of the Jeffries fighting career—his 11th round knockout over Bob Fitzsimmons for the championship in 1899, his two knockouts over "Gentleman" Jim Corbett, his roaring battles with Sailor Tom Sharkey, and yes, his ill-advised, unwise come-back attempt against Jack Johnson in 1910, five years after he had retired, undefeated in 23 major bouts.

Old Jim doesn't mind talking about these events, or, in his gruff, amiable way, deploring some of today's nightclub-training athletes. But he isn't one to volunteer a discourse on such subjects.

Instead, he likes to sit back and exchange pleasantries and spice the talk with anecdotes quite apart from his own ring battles.

One of his favorite stories concerns the time many years ago when he disclosed plans to make a hunting trip to Alaska. A sports writer inquired: "Will you travel incognito?"

Jim, deadpan and solemn, replied: "No, I'll take a train to Seattle and go by boat from there."

Stanley Cup Series Forecasts Cautious

TORONTO—(AP)—There was a cautious touch to pre-game talk in the New York and Detroit hockey series today.

Coach Lynn Patrick had an "if" mingled with his hopes of the upstart New York Rangers beating the Detroit Red Wings tonight and eventually winning the best-of-seven final series for the Stanley cup.

The "if" lies in whether his team can play up to the form it showed in beating the Montreal Canadiens four games to one in their semifinal round of the National Hockey league playoffs.

At Hamilton, where his Red Wings are quartered, Coach Tommy Ivan's caution concerned the condition of star left wing, Ted Lindsay who has a back injury. Ivan told reporters he did not know how Lindsay's back would be for tonight's game; third of the You'd get slugged if you'd call most athletes "charming." But that's the word that best describes Ernie McCoy, University of Michigan basketball coach and assistant athletic director.

Another one we heard describing him was "he's a real gentleman."

McCoy, a tall, slender, bronzed chap with graying hair, also is a "good scout." After the Gladstone Lions basketball "bust" at which he spoke, McCoy sat around the Ludington hotel "with the gang" until almost 3 o'clock in the morning.

Of course, it's part of his job to build good public relations for the university. But the warm manner in which he "chinned" with the boys—even though he obviously was tired and had a tough schedule ahead of him—won the admiration of everyone.

Larson

And a lot of fans should have heard his talk at Gladstone. He minced no words on this proposition of firing the coach just because he didn't have a winning season. Members of the Kingsford school board should have heard him.

He was diplomatic but blunt. Something has to be done, he said, about overzealous alumni and "synthetic" alumni.

First they scream that the team isn't running up enough scores. Then, if the coach does have a powerhouse, they scream because he is "pouring it on," said McCoy.

McCoy made no bones of the fact that intercollegiate athletics are in for trouble unless schools can find some way to combat the problem.

McCoy will find a warm reception any time he comes back to Escanaba or Gladstone.

Banquet crumbs . . . as usual "Lars" Cameron injected punch into the affair . . . he brought down the house by introducing three members of the 1926 Gladstone basketball team . . . he called them "Slaughterhouse" Peterson of Wabash . . . "Skindhead" Joe Reese . . . and "What's Left of Cleve" Moore . . . the banquet was "Gladstone" through the years . . . "Gramp" Skellenger and his little "Bobby" . . . Soren and Vince Johnson . . . Jim Jones . . . Walter VandeWeghe . . . half a dozen Goodmans . . . at least, it seemed that way . . . Jim Cannon . . . Archie Harris . . . Jim Rouman . . . Fred "Ten Per Cent" Sivert . . . we're going to try out that rugged Gladstone golf course first with Cappy Keil . . . he got a dozen golf balls as a gift . . . and we understand a dub needs that many . . . Donnie Potenhauer can't alibi when he doesn't get any fish . . . he got a tackle box from the boys . . . judging from the bores (good natured, of course), the most popular guy there was a "ringer" . . . "Gump" Olson . . . all in all, a swell evening.

Rabid Marquette Fan Bets Beard On Tiges

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(AP)—A loyal baseball fan here is betting his beard the Detroit Tigers will win their opening game on April 18.

If they don't, Bernard "Cully" McAuliffe may have to wear his seven-inch beard for another itchy summer.

Cully, who operates a filling station, made a $10 wager that he wouldn't shave his beard until the Tigers were in first place in the American league standings.

Like many other faithful Marquette residents, Cully began growing his beard a year ago last winter in preparation for the city's centennial celebration last summer. All other Marquette citizens shaved their whiskers after the celebration last July 4th.

But Cully, in the meantime, had made a bet that he would not put a razor to his flowing beard until the Detroit club was on top.

Consequently, the avid fan carried his prophet-sized beard throughout the summer. The Tigers failed to get above third place after Independence Day and they finished in fourth.

Now Cully, whose beard dates back to February 19, 1949 is hoping the Tigers can win their first contest so that he can shear his auburn whiskers and pocket the $10.

Cully thinks his chances of shaving soon are pretty good. He points to the fact that the Tigers haven't lost an opening game since 1945 and that even after dropping their initial contest that year they went on to win the pennant.

"But suppose the Tigers lose on April 18th?" Cully was asked. "Are you still going to keep the beard?"

New State Amateur Grid Loop Proposed

DETROIT—(AP)—Rules and regulations for a proposed new state independent amateur football league will be discussed tomorrow at a meeting of a dozen representatives from as many cities.

Teams, which already have shown interest in the new league include the Bay City All-Stars, Oakwood Blue Jackets of Detroit, Flint Blue Devils, Windsor Bulldogs, Mt. Clemens Jugs, Monroe AC, Coldwater Comets, Dearborn All-Stars, Pontiac AC, Northwest AC of Detroit and the 17th Infantry Marine Reserves of Detroit.

The meeting will be held at the Oakwood Blue Jackets Athletic club rooms here.

Boys Awaiting Warm Weather

Outlook Not Bright For 1950 Season

Between "unseasonably cold weather," as the prognosticators put it, and a dearth of returning letterman, Coach Jim Rouman's Escanaba high school baseball team appears to be in for a stormy season.

The pitchers and catchers have been doing the obvious—practicing in the junior high gym to get as much groundwork as possible toward the day they'll be able to get outdoors, if that day ever comes.

Rouman, whose Eskymos won four and lost three last year, has only three returning lettermen. They are Duane Brown, senior rightfielder; Buddy Weber, senior centerfielder, and Charles Olson, junior shortstop.

Others who were on the squad last year but who did not win letters were Dick Johnson, Howard Larson, Roland McMillie, James Nyquist, Bob Paterick, and Tom Schwabach.

Others out for the team this year are Paul Baldwin, Nicolin Ballback, Admer Buitman, John Christie, Gary Carlson, John Ettenhofer, Carl Frans, Paul and Ken Gunderman, Eugene Huelt, Warren Johnston, Willard Mattson, Fred McFadden, Ronald Olson, DeWayne Peterson, Nick Prokos, Allan Slye, Jim Valentine, Bob Valind, Max Whitney and Leonard Vandres.

Last year's first team had Joe Friedson at first, Ray Oseen at second, Gerald Dufour at third, Olson at short, Ron Sedenovist catching, Edward Millette, Weber and Brown in the outfield and Gilbert Prevost, pitching.

Low Jenkins Stopped By Beau Jack, But There Is Confusion

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Beau Jack stopped Low Jenkins last night, but the battle of the two former lightweight champions ended on a confusing note.

Thousands of television watchers deluged newspapers in New York, Chicago and other cities with telephone calls for clarification.

At 2:32 of the fifth round of the scheduled 10-rounder Jack landed a low blow that floored Jenkins.

Referee Ray Bowen gave Jenkins a five-minute rest period to recover. At the end of the five minutes Jenkins' seconds claimed he was unable to continue.

Dr. Leon Gordon of the District of Columbia boxing commission was called into the ring. He ruled Jenkins was able to resume, but Jenkins still was restrained by his handlers and referee Bowen raised Jack's hand in token of victory.

Jack, the former shoeshine boy from Augusta, Ga., now fighting out of New York, had floored the Sweetwater, Tex., ex-champ, for a six-count in the third round and later opened an old wound above Jenkins' right eye.

Mule Team Is Make Believe

SOUTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(P)—A. J. McKnight, 60, who handles horses and mules for movie studios, has always wanted to drive a 20-mule team. The closest he's come to this ambition was 30 years ago when he enviously watched a team clip-clop across the wastes of Death Valley. A year ago he settled for the next best thing—make believe.

With clay and wood he settled down to making a scale model of a fully equipped team in action. Now McKnight has a replica authentic down to the last harness buckle.

Death Claims Isabelle Cass

Funeral Of Escanaba Teacher Tuesday

Miss Isabelle Cass, 63, widely known member of the teaching profession, and prominently identified with 4-H club work in Delta county, died this morning at her home, 516 South 12th street. She had been in ill health for two years.

Miss Cass was a life-long resident of Escanaba. She was born Isabelle Cass on March 4, 1887. She was a graduate of St. Joseph high school and of Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette. She taught for 18 years in the Ford River school and for 27 years in the Wells school.

She was particularly active in 4-H club work throughout her teaching years. She received the 25 year 4-H membership pin, an honorary award in recognition of her service, and she was honored at a Michigan state convention of 4-H clubs in Lansing. She frequently was heard over WDBC in talks on 4-H club projects.

She was a devout member of St. Patrick's parish and also was affiliated with Trinity Circle, 362, Daughters of Isabella and with the Lady Macabees.

She leaves three brothers, William, George, and Robert of Escanaba, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Tuesday at St. Patrick's church and burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery. Friends may call at the Alfo funeral home beginning Monday afternoon. Daughters of Isabella will recite the rosary at the funeral home at 4 p. m. Monday.

Hope Dim In Hunt For Lost American Airmen In Baltic

WIESBADEN, Germany—(AP)—Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon, chief of the U. S. Air Force in Europe, announced today search for a Navy Privateer plane missing for a week will be abandoned at sun-down tomorrow.

U. S. planes roared over the Baltic for the seventh day today with scant hope they still may find the plane and its crew of ten.

Sixteen U. S. Air Force search planes based at Copenhagen reported the weather was better over the Baltic than any day since the Navy Privateer patrol plane vanished a week ago today on a flight from Frankfurt, Germany, to the Danish capital.

The plan today was to fly again over all the areas where fliers have reported driftwood or objects in the water which were previously passed over as unimportant.

The planes will search every possible area where the missing plane and its crew might be found, including the waters west of Soviet-held Latvia where the Russians renounced firing on a four-engine American bomber last Saturday.

Bojangles Robinson Who Made $2,000,000, Leaves Only $3,150

NEW YORK — (AP)—Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, who earned approximately $2,000,000 during his tap-dancing career, left an estate of $3,150.

The figure was disclosed in letters of administration issued by surrogate George Frankenthaler yesterday to Robinson's widow.

During his lifetime, the Negro dancing star of Broadway and Hollywood gave heavily to charity. He died last Nov. 25 at 71.

Funeral, probate and other expenses must come out of his meager estate. If there is any left, it goes to his widow, the former Elaine Dash.

Takes Dim View Of Drunk Humor

BALTIMORE — (AP)—Three drunks, said Dr. G. Wilson Shaffer, dean of the John Hopkins University, staggered into police court and faced the magistrate.

"What's your name?" the judge asked the first, "John Smith," answered the second. "I wasn't talking to you," said the judge. "Who said you were?" barked the third.

The Baltimore Engineers club roared with laughter. Dr. Shaffer remained straight-faced until the guffaws subsided. "What is so funny about that?" he demanded. No one seemed to know. So Dr. Shaffer told them.

"You were laughing at three cross-eyed men. You were laughing at their physical deformity." He then explained that the conclusion about humor is that we nearly always laugh because we feel superior to the man in the joke or the comedians on the stage or screen.

Six Sailors, One Civilian Fined After Fight Here

An argument over fish nets alleged to have been damaged by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Sundew set off two fights in an Escanaba restaurant last night and brought about the arrest of six Coast Guard sailors and one civilian, the police department reported today.

The seven persons, arrested for drunk and disorderly conduct, were arraigned in justice court this morning and assessed fines and costs of $13.25 each, or a total of $92.75. In addition the Coast Guardsmen were ordered to make restitution of $4.90 to Tim and Sally's restaurant on Ludington street for dishes which were broken, and $25.00 restitution to Lee Wiles for repair of his glasses.

The sailors reported to Escanaba police that an Escanaba commercial fisherman had started an argument with them over damage to fish nets, and that the civilian hit one of the sailors in the face, breaking a tooth. Police were called and after the fight was quelled, ordered the sailors to return to the Sundew.

The sailors donned civilian clothes when back at the cutter and returned to the restaurant to settle the matter. The arrests were made when police were called to the restaurant to settle the second argument at 3:45 a. m.

Wiles' glasses were knocked to the floor in the scuffle in the restaurant and were damaged by scratching on the concrete floor. He was not involved in the quarrel.

The seven who were ordered to pay fines are as follows:

Amos Spencer, 22, of Canton, N. Y.; Willie L. Moore, 19, of Kansas City, Kan.; Arthur C. Jones, 22, of Cleveland, O.; Robert R. Valentine, 18, of Melvindale, Mich.; David A. Vanse, 21, of Rockford, Ill.; Charles R. Pohl, 21, of Milwaukee, and Charles Joncas, 33, No. 2, Federal Housing Project, Escanaba. Jones and Moore are Negroes.

Arrests were made by Officers Robert Crepeau, Joseph Pryal, Floyd Brunelle and James Bohan.

MacLeod Clan Kilt Mailed To Truman From River Clyde

PORT GLASGOW, Scotland—(AP)—President Truman is going to get a Scottish kilt, fashioned from the colorful tartan of the clan MacLeod.

The president isn't a member of the MacLeod clan, but an unidentified friend has ordered the kilt for him.

Mrs. A. MacDonald of this village on the River Clyde, who has made kilts for the menfolk for 25 years, said she has just finished the president's kilt and mailed it to the White House. The MacLeod tartan has a green ground with wide blue and black bands crossing red and yellow over-checks.

At Dunvegan castle on the Isle of Skye, Mrs. Flora MacLeod of MacLeod, 28th hereditary chief of the clan, said she was "thrilled to think that so distinguished a man as Mr. Truman might wear the MacLeod tartan."

Young Flier Plunged To Death Near Home Of Estranged Wife

MARSHALL, Mich. — (AP)—A young flier crashed to his death on a farm near the home of his estranged wife yesterday.

Investigators said that the victim, Jack Lee Hoover, Jr., 22, of Battle Creek, might have been intending to "buzz" the home of his wife Lucella. He had done so before.

The couple separated some time ago. A week ago Mrs. Hoover gave birth to a baby.

Hoover, a navy veteran, crashed from an altitude of about 500 feet. The plane came down on the farm of Ed Casey, two and a half miles from here off US-12.

Mrs. Victor Stark Dies This Morning At Stonington

Mrs. Victor (Wilhelmina) Stark, 68, of Rockford, Ill., housekeeper for Knute G. Anderson of Stonington, died suddenly at 5 a. m. this morning at the Anderson cottage at Stonington.

Mrs. Stark has come to Stonington Wednesday with Mr. Anderson, for whom she had been housekeeper for the past four years. Anderson spends about 4 months of the year at Stonington and otherwise resides in Rockford.

Mrs. Stark was born in Westergotland, Sweden. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Hjelmer Boden of Rockford and a grandson. Mr. Stark died about 10 years ago.

The body was removed to Anderson funeral home here and will be sent to Rockford, Ill., tonight. Burial will be made in the Scandinavian cemetery there.

Pay Raises Granted To Building Trades In Detroit District

DETROIT—(AP)—Wage boosts of 10½ to 12½ cents an hour will go into effect May 1 for more than 15,000 Detroit area AFL-affiliated Building Trades Workers.

Contracts were signed yesterday by the Detroit chapter of the Associated General Contractors, representing most builders in the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb county area, and nine AFL locals.

Under the new agreements, wage rates in the industry would range from $1.80 an hour for unskilled labor to $2.75 an hour for brick layers and stone masons.
